Superannuation standard choice form

Use this form to choose the super fund your employer will pay your super into. Your choice of super fund is an important decision for your future.

If you don't complete this form, your employer can pay your super into your existing fund identified by the ATO. If you don't have one, your employer can pay into a new account in their default super fund. You can find more information on page 5.

How to complete online

Save time: use the online form

myGov

Australian Government
Australian Taxation Office

Use the online form in myGov to choose your super fund. Your super account details will automatically be filled in for you.

- 1 Sign into myGov and select ATO in your services
- 2 In the menu select Employment, and then New employment. You'll need your employer's information on page 3 to complete this form.
- 3 Select your preferred fund and give a copy to your employer.

Information

For employees

Additional information about super is located at the end of this form. You can also visit ato.gov.au/individuals/super

For employers

Use the form to offer employees their choice of super fund. You must fill in the details of your nominated super fund, also known as your default fund, on page 3 before giving the form to an employee.

For more information on super, offering an employee a choice of fund or paying super contributions, visit ato.gov.au/employersuper

Information for Employers

If an employee doesn't return this form

If your employee starts work on or after 1 November 2021, most employers must request the employee's stapled super fund details before making a super contribution.

If an employee doesn't provide you with the correct details, or the fund can't accept your contributions, you will need to request their stapled super fund details from the ATO.

If the ATO advises the employee does not have a stapled super fund, you can make the payment to your nominated default super fund. For more information, visit ato.gov.au/stapledsuperfund

You can choose any eligible super fund as your chosen fund for your employer to pay your super into. It's an important decision that can affect your retirement savings.

If you choose not to complete this form

If you are a new employee and choose not to complete this form, your employer will check with the ATO if you have an existing super fund. If you do, your super can be paid into this fund, called your 'stapled super fund'.

- If you have multiple funds the ATO will choose one of them as your stapled fund – it may not be the fund you would prefer.
- If the ATO is unable to identify a stapled fund, your employer will be advised to pay your super into their default super fund listed in Section C.
- If you started your current employment before 1 November 2021, your employer will pay your super into their default super fund listed in Section C.

For more information about stapled super funds, visit ato.gov.au/individuals/super

Providing your TFN

You don't have to provide your TFN, but if your super fund does not have it, your super contributions may be taxed at a higher rate and you won't be able to make personal contributions to your fund.

Your TFN also makes it easier to keep track of any super accounts in your name so that you receive all your super when you retire.

Finding lost super

It is important to keep track of your super. If you've ever changed your name, address or job, you may have lost track of some of your super.

Having multiple super accounts could mean you are paying fees you are unaware of, which could reduce your retirement savings. Your super is your money, you should check it regularly.

If you have more than one super fund

Having more than one super account could mean you're paying multiple fees and charges, which may reduce your retirement savings. You can consolidate multiple accounts using our ATO online services through myGov.

Before you consolidate accounts, you may want to seek advice on fees this may incur or if you will lose any valuable insurance.

Your privacy

This form is provided as a means for employees to provide necessary superannuation information to their employer. The ATO does not collect this information. An employer is authorised to collect their employee's TFN under the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993. It is not an offence for an employee not to quote their TFN. If an employee does not provide their superannuation fund details to their employer, the employer may request the information from the ATO.

For more information regarding employee privacy rights contact your superannuation fund.

Complying Fund Letter

Everything an employer needs to know about Cbus

To the Employer

This document contains payment details and other important fund information an employer needs to refer to when an employee chooses Cbus to receive their Superannuation Guarantee (SG) contributions.

Letter of Compliance

Cbus is:

- a complying resident regulated super fund
- not currently or ever has been under direction not to accept any contributions from an employer sponsor (under s.63 of SIS)
- able to accept super contributions from employers on behalf of their employees
- an authorised MySuper provider and meets the insurance requirements to be chosen as a default fund by employers.

If you are not an existing Cbus participating employer, go to our website to find out how to register and pay your employee super to Cbus.

To process employer superannuation contributions, Cbus needs certain information from the employer, including: employer name, employer ABN, employer address, contact name and contact number.

You can join Cbus from our website at www.cbussuper.com.au/employers/join-as-an-employer.

Employer contributions must detail the period for which the contribution is made. A copy of the Cbus Employer Handbook, which includes details of payment options, is available from the Cbus Service Centre by contacting 1300 361 784 or from our website: www.cbussuper.com.au

Managing super with Cbus is easy for employers

The easiest way to make super contributions for your employees to Cbus is through a clearing house. You can register for the Cbus Clearing House* at www.cbussuper.com.au/employers/employer-super-payment-options#cbusch or you can contribute for your employees through any other existing clearing house you choose to use.

Our online Clearing House:

- saves you administration time as you only submit one contribution file and one payment to the Clearing House and this can be distributed to many different super funds
- is SuperStream compliant and completely secure.

The Cbus Clearing House is a free service for employers and we can help to set you up and provide ongoing support.

For more information and to register for the Cbus Clearing House go to www.cbussuper.com.au

Making super payments to Cbus

When using the Cbus Clearing House you can make payments by Electronic Funds Transfer or Direct Debit.

We do have some other contribution and payment options and to view more information visit www.cbussuper.com.au/employers/employer-super-payment-options

Contact the Service Centre on 1300 361 784 or cbusenq@cbussuper.com.au if you need any help understanding your employer super obligations or with making payments for your employees. You can also visit www.cbussuper.com.au

This information is about Cbus. It doesn't take into account your specific needs, so you should look at your own financial position, objectives and requirements before making any financial decisions.
